Published in: BBC

Publish date: February 28, 2022

Introduction: As Russia's invasion of Ukraine has begun and escalated to the fifth day, hundreds of thousands of homes left abandoned, buildings being destroyed as bombs drop upon them as well dozens of people being killed and thousands of people being injured as the city of Kharkiv is being constantly bombarded with artillery and missiles from aerial aircraft and other destructive means while Kharkiv's residents retreat from the city.

Body:

A. Showing the evidence of Russia's actions:

- More than half a million people have fled their homes.
- Russia initiating missile strikes over the city of Kharkiv.

B. The aftereffects of the missile strikes:

- City of Kharkiv becoming a city of ruin and unstable buildings.
- The people being affected by the missile strikes making them induced with fear and worry and will have them traumatized for the rest of their lives until the point they are able to move on from their fears and worries.

C. Nuclear warheads:

- Russia taking over the nuclear reactor which might be a problem if considered about Ukraine's electrical power and supply needs and demand.
- Russia being cautious and being ready with nuclear warheads to launch at whoever or wherever is needed to which will be a devastating foe to Ukraine and its people causing Ukraine to be constantly afraid of Russia's movements and their next plans.

Conclusions: The Ukraine-Russia war conflict has brought about so much terror and so distress into many numerous amounts of people's lives and have caused so many people to leave their countries and migrate to other countries during this war, not only has Ukraine been affected by this war but spectators watching the outcomes of this violent session of chaos have been grieving Ukraine's situation, even Russia is also affected by this war as sanctions impose very big and crucial economic problems for Russia and it's people and some of Russia's stocks have hit an all-time low due to sanctions-hit upon by America and other numerous countries that belong in NATO and the UN. All sides that are participated in the war are affected negatively in one way or another but Ukraine is mostly suffering as people leave their own homes and become immigrants in other countries or are left to stay in the street homeless as their homes are destroyed by constant bombardment from Russian military and missile strikes from Russian aircraft as well as trying to survive out in the cold during the massive turmoil their country is in.
